The next phase of work starts for the construction of the Crossrail Tottenham Court Road western ticket hall in Dean Street. BAM, Ferrovial Kier Joint Venture (BFK), the contractor building the western running tunnels from Paddington to Farringdon, will take over the site in mid February 2012.

Between February and December 2012, BFK will be excavating 37,000 m³ of soil from the western ticket hall site. The work also includes the installation of steel props to support the basement walls (see photo below). Following this a concrete slab will be constructed at the bottom of the box to form the base of the ticket hall.

The soil will be placed into skips and lifted out of the basement by a gantry crane on site similar to the one shown below and taken away by lorry. These works are needed before the arrival of the tunnel boring machines late 2012.

Works to drill the pipes (TAMs) from the base of the grout shaft on site will also start in February. The grout shaft is needed to offset any settlement that may be caused by tunnelling. The drilling work will be carried out 24 hours a day but is contained deep within the grout shaft and is unlikely to cause disturbance.

We will commence drilling TAMs at the grout shaft in Sheraton Street 24 hours a day at the end of February 2012.

During these works we will do everything possible to minimise disruption to the local community. We apologise for any inconvenience caused as a result of our works. If you have any queries, please contact the 24-hour public helpdesk on 0345 602 3813 or email helpdesk@crossrail.co.uk
